

1 Day Electronic Tracing Course

Taken from our full 4 day course on Using The Internet As An Investigative Tool, which is recognised by the University of Portsmouth's Institute of Criminal Justice Studies, this 1 day course is aimed at giving those within law enforcement & investigations the understanding and practical techniques that they need to fully use the increasingly useful tool that is the internet.

From understanding how to get more from the registration details behind a website, to where an email was sent from or read. Even if you don't have an email address to trace, but are trying to trace details behind a Social Networking account then there are techniques that can be used, which we will show you on this course.
